Days of Remembrance

This month, WGBH commemorates the 100th anniversary of America's entry into World War I, and reveals evidence for a little-known story of the Holocaust during World War II, through the extraordinary research and superb storytelling of our documentary series American Experience and Nova.

Drawing on the latest scholarship, including unpublished diaries, memoirs and letters, The Great War is presented in six hours over three nights on American Experience, April 10–12 (pg. 13). The complex story of World War I unfolds through the voices of nurses, journalists, aviators and the American troops who came to be known as “doughboys.” The series explores the experiences of African-American and Latino soldiers, suffragists, Native American “code talkers” and others whose participation in the war has been largely forgotten.

“The film is not only about what happened 100 years ago, but how what happened then transformed our nation and the world in ways still being felt today,” says American Experience Executive Producer Mark Samels. “There’s one America before the Great War, and another America after. By examining the war through the lives of individuals—some famous, most forgotten—we hope to have created a film that does justice to this incredibly rich story.”

The story of another group of individuals, almost forgotten during World War II, is dramatically told in Nova's Holocaust Escape Tunnel, airing April 19 (pg. 17), marking the upcoming Holocaust Remembrance Day. Vilnius, Lithuania was one of the most important Jewish centers in the world before 1941, when the culture was destroyed by Nazis who killed some 70,000 Jews. Nova followed an expedition of archaeologists as they probed the ruins of the death camp, filming as the team made a dramatic discovery—the exact location of a hidden underground tunnel dug by Jewish prisoners.

The news made international headlines, and was designated by The New York Times as a top science story of 2016. Nova Senior Executive Producer Paula Apsell says, “This discovery is a stunning example of how modern technology has enabled us to bring to life a legendary lost civilization, to learn the truth of what happened, and to preserve a lasting and undeniable record of a dark time in history.”

Telling the stories of all Americans, and recording as science reveals the historical record of a culture—these are the meaningful programs that only WGBH and public media bring you. Thank you for being a partner in making them possible.

Edible Science

Do you have an interest in science as well as a passion for the food and beverage industry?

Visit WGBH Studios on Wed, 4/19 at 7pm, and experience how Boston is influencing “edible science.” Edible wrappers, liquid nitrogen-based ice cream, grasshoppers as a form of protein and much more await you. Not only will you get to taste these scientific treats, but you will also hear the innovators speak about how these products came to be and what it means for our bodies now and in the future. Admission is $15 for WGBH members and $25 for non-members. You must be at least 21 with a valid ID to attend this event. Info: wgbh.org/events/

Sights and Sounds of Scenic Central Europe with WCRB

Mark your calendar for an unforgettable journey with 99.5 WCRB Classical Radio Boston Station Manager Anthony Rudel.

Travel the world with WGBH LearningTours, and enjoy the incredible sights and music of Munich, Vienna, Salzburg and Prague. Savor traditional cuisines, and explore historic sites during this once-in-a-lifetime voyage lasting from Oct. 24 to Nov. 3. To see where else WGBH can take you, go to wgbh.org/learningtours. Contact carrie@culturalcrossroads.com or call 877-479-7040.

Boston Design Week

Design impacts almost every facet of our lives. With more than 80 events, exhibitions and programs in and around the city, Boston Design Week provides a comprehensive look into what’s happening in design today. All events are open to the public, and most are free of charge. Events run 3/29–4/9 at locations citywide. Info: bostondesignweek.com or call 617-363-0405.

WGBH 5K: Run for Public Media

Hit the starting line with fellow fans of WGBH TV and WGBH

Radio as we host our second annual 5K road race. The race starts at the DCR Artesani Park at 11am on Soldiers Field Road in Brighton and travels around the scenic Charles River. A shuttle bus will be available for transportation from the WGBH parking garage to the race course and back. Registration ranges from $20 to $35, plus fees. Event takes place Sat 4/15. Info: wgbh.org/events/

BostonTalks: Happy Hour

The Curiosity Desk’s Edgar B. Herwick III hosts speakers pondering the intriguing question: What if...? WGBH’s BostonTalks connects you with local leaders, stories, trends and each other—and we do it all over a drink. Think happy hour, but smarter. You must be at least 21 with a valid ID to attend this event. $10 admission. Thu, 4/20, 7–9pm at WGBH Studios. Info: wgbh.org/events

Stories from the Stage

Oops! We’ve done it again! The Stories from the Stage and Massmouth collaboration is back. The theme is mistakes. We all make them. Some are small and funny, but others are doozies that can change our lives forever. Join us on Thu, 4/6 from 7pm to 9pm to talk about impactful “oops” moments during drinks with friends. You must be at least 21 with a valid ID to attend this event. Admission is $15. Info: wgbh.org/events/

Get Up and Go

Nature Cat and Wild Kratts celebrate Earth Month with a week of new episodes starting April 10. The Kratt brothers travel the world—from the ocean to the savannah to the Arctic—on missions to learn about animal behavior, solve mysteries and save the day. Nature Cat can't wait to get outside with his animal friends and have wildlife adventures in his own backyard.

Whether you stick close to home or travel far afield, PBS Kids invites you to Explore the outdoors!

Kids Just Want to Have Fun

Based on the best-selling children's books by Marc Brown, Arthur is about exploring the world and helping kids find their place in it.

The week of April 10, during Autism Awareness Month, Arthur and the gang learn a lot from their new pal Carl, who has Asperger's syndrome. Because of that, Carl sees the world differently than most people. With Carl, the friends can still be creative, make good choices and take responsibility for them, help each other out, and just have fun being kids!

Follow the nurses, midwives and nuns from Nonnatus House who visit the expectant mothers of Poplar, providing the poorest women with the best possible care. Inspired by the memoirs of Jennifer Worth, the 1960s drama intermingles the personal and professional lives of the midwifery staff as they work to improve life for the families in London's East End. It's business as usual, as they care for the sick and bring new life into the world.

Aftermath

Raw and revealing, Newtown uses deeply personal, never-before-heard testimonies to tell the story of the aftermath of the deadliest mass shooting of schoolchildren in American history. Filmed over the course of nearly three years, this documentary chronicles a traumatized community still reeling from the senseless killing, fractured by grief but driven toward a sense of purpose. Newtown shows what happens to a community after it becomes the epicenter of a national discussion and how it copes after the cameras leave.

Holy Week Reexamined

The Bible paints a picture of Jesus as a local preacher who ran up against the Roman rulers in Jerusalem and paid for it with his life. But new evidence gathered from archaeological research, Roman historians and Jewish texts offers a different image of Christianity's savior—as an astute leader with ties to the most powerful people in Rome. This extraordinary docudrama—filmed in Israel and Italy—presents unique insights to help uncover the explosive Roman politics that ultimately led to Jesus being nailed to the cross.

War to End All Wars

World War I began with the assassination of Austrian Archduke Franz Ferdinand and erupted across Europe, the Middle East and Asia. Commemorating the 100th anniversary of America's entry into the war on April 6, 1917, The Great War draws on unpublished diaries, memoirs and letters to explore the conflict that shaped the 20th century. This six-hour documentary tells the complex story through the voices of nurses, journalists, American soldiers and others whose participation in the "the war to end all wars" has been largely forgotten.

Northumberland Detective

Join Chief Investigator Vera Stanhope (Brenda Blethyn) as she solves the most curious murder cases in the North East England county of Northumberland. A brilliant but somewhat disheveled crime fighter, Vera is a kind-hearted loner who can become obsessed with the minutia of her job. Driven by her own demons, she faces the world with caustic wit, unassuming guile and unrelenting courage while bringing evil doers to justice.

Tunnel to Freedom

In the former Soviet republic of Lithuania, the capital Vilnius was once an epicenter of Jewish culture. But during the Holocaust, 95% of Lithuanian Jews were imprisoned and killed. Hidden within this tragedy is a story of hope and courage that archeologists are just now bringing to light. Cutting-edge technology is revealing a Holocaust escape tunnel where brave prisoners dug their way to freedom outside Vilnius. For the first time in history, their heroic story is being told.

Latin Music Remix

As diverse as the Latin experience, Latin Music USA highlights great American music and celebrates the Latin rhythms at the heart of jazz, rock, country, and rhythm and blues. The film is a fresh take on American musical history reaching across five decades to portray the rich mix of Latin sounds and embraced by all. Narrated by Jimmy Smits, it features some of Latin music's greatest artists and their iconic sounds through the ages.

nationwide, and the award-winning America ReFramed, a showcase for independent films by and about communities of difference. This month World Channel offers films that explore the theme of community.

Data and the People

Today, science isn't done in labs anymore, and corporations and governments aren't the only ones collecting data. Smartphones and mobile technology are enabling regular citizens to become part of a 21st century way of solving problems by helping professional scientists speed up discovery and innovation. In this four-part series, former NASA Chief Scientist Waleed Abdalati takes a look at the projects and people on the front lines of this disruptive transformation and shows the ways in which anyone, anywhere can participate.

Marching On

This award-winning documentary series recounts the fight to end decades of discrimination and segregation in America. In Then and Now, filmmakers reexamine the series by placing the civil rights movement under a microscope and reframing key questions in a contemporary way. While there have been victories to celebrate, the country continues to be plagued by some of the same problems of race. What does it mean for the next generation?

Graffiti and Hawaii

What happens when you combine modern graffiti art with ancient Hawaiian culture? Street artists Estria Miyashiro and John Hina embark on their own personal journeys to rediscover their identities as Hawaiian artists. Together they create a mural that addresses the effects of environmental changes and encroaching modernization on their native culture. Learn how a new generation of Native Hawaiian artists, educators and youth benefits from the transformative power of art.

Holocaust Survivor as Artist

Harry is a renowned post-impressionist painter who escaped the Holocaust as a teenager. Now, at 90 years old and living in a desert community in the Southwest, he reveals for the first time the details of what he saw and how he escaped. Diagnosed with a terminal condition, Harry speaks with remarkable eloquence and historical detail. Rather than hold onto hatred, he continues to find the beauty in life through his art.

Life in the Middle

New York Times journalist Bob Herbert narrates a story about the difficulty African-Americans have when trying to maintain a middle class standard of living. The devastating effects of the Great Recession and housing foreclosure crisis, which hit blacks much harder than whites, left the black middle class virtually on life support. Using historical footage and a series of deeply personal interviews, this documentary shows why this tragic state of affairs still exists a half-century after the civil rights movement.

Andris Nelsons Plays for Greater Boston

Earlier this winter, WGBH's Greater Boston featured an exclusive performance by one of Boston's best known musical influencers, Andris Nelsons, music director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

A regular fixture onstage at Symphony Hall, where he conducts the BSO, this was Nelsons's first time playing the trumpet publicly. His interview followed the BSO's second-straight win at this year's Grammy Awards, this time for its performance of Shostakovich: Under Stalin's Shadow. Nelsons was joined on set for a lively duet at WGBH with the BSO's Principal Trumpet Thomas Rolfs.

"If they give a Grammy for trumpet duets, Nelsons and Rolfs are a walk," said Jim Braude, host of Greater Boston.

Watch the performance at news.wgbh.org/greater-boston.

Out of Gitmo with Arun Rath

In February, Frontline released a one-hour report about Guantanamo Bay featuring WGBH News and NPR correspondent Arun Rath. The two-part film, Out of Gitmo and Forever Prison, respectively, examines the release of "indefinite detainees" at Guantanamo Bay and the little-known history of how the military base became a place where the government said it could hold people beyond the reach of US law.

Rath has been covering Guantanamo Bay for years and was the only public media journalist reporting from there for the recent hearings for Khalid Sheikh Mohammed, the self-proclaimed mastermind behind the 9/11 attacks.

"Arun has followed this story doggedly throughout its many complexities and challenges," said Kate Zachry, WGBH news director. "His work exemplifies WGBH's commitment to substantive journalism at every level: local, national and global."

For the film's first segment, Out of Gitmo, Rath follows the trail of one of the most recently released detainees from Guantanamo Bay to Serbia, where the government sent the former terror suspect. Rath's reporting continues in the second segment, Forever Prison, which draws on extensive and rare archival footage to document the history of the base, which began a decade before 9/11. Throughout his reporting, Rath talks with officials inside the camp and in Washington, DC, including former US Secretary of Defense Chuck Hagel.

It's Time to Get Out... and Take WCRB with you

By Anthony Rudel
99.5 WCRB Station Manager

April has always seemed to be the month that decisively declares the end of winter. We know that many of you take this time to enjoy the great outdoors. But, we don't want you to be without your favorite radio station and the amazing music that makes your day great.

The WCRB app is the perfect way to take us with you. It's free and available for both iOS and Android devices. Simply go to your app store, search WCRB, and download.

April also brings the beginning of the baseball season, and WCRB will mark the Red Sox Opening Day on April 3 with performances from our hometown musical heroes. Be ready for a daylong parade of hits from the likes of the Boston Symphony, the Handel and Haydn Society, Yo-Yo Ma, and the Boston Pops, along with many other hometown artists and ensembles.

And, what can be more Boston than Patriots Day? It's another uniquely Boston celebration, especially because it includes the running of the Boston Marathon on April 17. Research has shown that long-distance running involves developing a running cadence, a concept that intrigued the WCRB music staff. To test the idea, we gathered some runners and played different classical music for them to see if we could come up with a playlist.

Although not everyone runs to the same beat, we found that most runners appreciate the incredible energy great classical music can provide. Thus was born the WCRB Boston Marathon Running Playlist, a collection of inspiring music to keep you moving for hours. If want a burst of Beethoven to get you through that tough mile, or even if you're just standing on the sidelines cheering, the music on WCRB will fit the day.

When it comes to hometown sounds, be sure to listen to WCRB's Boston Symphony Orchestra broadcasts every Saturday at 8pm and WCRB In Concert, a weekly rundown of the best concerts in and around Boston.

So, get outside in April, and take us with you!

Meeting Our Listeners

By Mindy Todd

WCAI's pub nights with a twist have been really popular. We began the tradition of pub nights in 2003 as a cure for cabin fever in the winter months when things can get pretty quiet. Point Producer Amy Vince remembers how they got started:

"Susan Loucks was the development director at the time, and we talked about the size of our geographic listening area and how tough it would be for many listeners to get to us. So we decided to go to them."

We have been inviting listeners to join us at different venues across the listening area to meet the hosts, reporters, producers and staff of WCAI and to meet other NPR listeners.

This year we decided to add a twist: program-related themes.

Development Director Sarah

Tribuzio brainstormed with other staff members to create the various events, including a poetry slam, WCAI trivia quiz, Guess the Science Sounds, and Local Food Celebrates Spring with a seed share.

"We have such a creative staff, and there were a lot of great ideas. Our final pub night takes place on Nantucket and celebrates Bird News. Mark Faherty will test our avian knowledge with a fun bird quiz."

While listeners tell us they really enjoy putting faces to the voices they hear, WCAI staff say it is great to meet the listeners who make public radio possible. Living Lab Producer Elsa Partan looks forward to pub night:

"The best part for me is meeting our listeners and finding out what fascinating people they are and what a broad range of interests they have."

This season wraps up at Atlas on Nantucket on April 26 from 5pm to 7pm.
